
Constitution of:

The Republican Movement of Aotearoa New Zealand Inc

Adopted on the Third Day of August 1994, in Wellington, New Zealand and amended on the 10th Day of June 2004 in Wellington, New Zealand.

Preamble

The Republican Movement wants a republic to replace the monarchy in New Zealand with a democratically-elected New Zealander as our head of state, to truly represent our unique culture and our place in the world as an independent nation.

We are committed to:

- involving all New Zealanders in the debate
- providing relevant and reliable information
- focusing on ideas, not personalities
- winning a referendum to establish the republic

Creating a republic does not require any change to the Treaty of Waitangi, flag or Commonwealth membership.

Part 1: The Constitution

1 Title – This Constitution may be cited as “the Constitution of the Republican Movement of Aotearoa New Zealand Incorporated”

2 Interpretation – In this Constitution unless the context otherwise requires

“Absolute majority” means approval by more than half of valid votes

“Consensus” means the absence of significant disapproval

“Determination” means the determination, resolution, decision, confirmation, approval or disapproval of any matter by a democratic process

“General meeting” means an annual or special general meeting

“Organ of the Society” means any, or all, of

(a) The National Executive, or

(b) The National Council, or

(c) Any organs created by the National Council including corporate and regional branches, and organs, committees, and offices of the national Executive “Postal vote” means any vote conducted by post, email or similar means as approved by the National Council.

Part III Executive Organs of the Society

- 15 National Executive – The affairs of the Society shall be managed by a National Executive composed of a National Council and such organs, committees, and offices as the National Council may create at its discretion.
- 16 National Council – The affairs of the National Executive shall be managed by a National Council, with the following powers and responsibilities.
- (1) To generally do any such things required for the efficient management of the affairs of the Society to further the stated objects of the Society, except for any such things specifically excluded by a determination of the Society
 - (2) In order to manage the financial affairs of the Society
 - (a) To purchase, take on lease, hire, or otherwise acquire any property, right, or privilege necessary or convenient for the furtherance of the stated objects of the Society
 - (b) To sell, lease, exchange, develop, manage, grant licenses in respect of, or otherwise deal with or dispose all, or any part of, the property, rights, or privileges of the Society for such consideration as determined by the National Council

- (c) To open, close, and manage an account in the name of the Society at any trading or savings bank in New Zealand or elsewhere, and to overdraw any such account, and to make any arrangements with any bank as to the operation upon that account
 - (d) To open and close any accounts, in the name of any organ of the Society, at any trading or savings bank in New Zealand or elsewhere
 - (e) To borrow moneys from any person for the furtherance of the objects of the Society on such terms and conditions as determined by the National Council
 - (f) To lend moneys to any person for the furtherance of the objects of the Society on such terms and conditions as determined by the National Council.
 - (g) To approve accounts for payment, such accounts to be paid by cheque or electronic fund transfer whenever practicable.
- (3) To promote, hold, manage, and conduct such gatherings, meetings, or conferences that the National Council may deem desirable either by itself, or in collaboration with any other person, club, society or organisation.
- (4) To engage such persons whose services may be deemed necessary for the furtherance of the stated objects of the Society, on such terms and conditions as determined by the National Council.
- (5) In order to manage efficiently the affairs of the Society
- (a) To create and dissolve, at the discretion of the National Council
 - (i) Organs, committees, and offices of the National Executive, and
 - (ii) Branches of the Society
 - (b) To appoint members to staff any organs, committees, or offices of the society created under paragraph (a) of this section
 - (c) To define the objects, responsibilities, powers and jurisdiction of any organs, committees, offices, and Branches of the Society created under paragraph (a) of this section.
 - (d) To draft, approve, administer, and review any resolutions, policies, rules or procedures of the Society deemed by the National Council to be reasonably necessary for the efficient management of the affairs of the Society to further the stated objects of the Society
- (6) To make or authorise public statements on behalf of the Society
- (7) To affix the Common Seal to any instrument, provided that such impression of the Common Seal shall be valid only if witnessed and attested to by two Councillors, acting upon a National Council determination
- (8) Any other additional powers determined by the Society

17 Councillors – The National Council shall consist of the following Councillors

- (1) A President, generally responsible for the management and conduct of all affairs of the Society and its organs, also responsible for
- (a) Ensuring the Society meets its stated objects, and
 - (b) Supporting, coordinating, and supervising all Society activities,
 - (c) Acting as the primary media spokesperson for the Republican Movement, and
 - (d) The performance of the stated responsibilities of other Councillors when they are unable or unavailable to perform them themselves, and
 - (e) Any other responsibilities determined by the National Council
- (2) General Councillors, who will participate in the decision-making of the National Council, take on any roles and responsibilities assigned by the National Council and perform any tasks determined by the National Council.

18 Maximum number of Councillors – The maximum number of Councillors at any one time shall not exceed seven, but may be set at a lower number by the members in any year at a General Meeting where National Council elections are being held.

19 Election of Councillors-

- (1) The President shall be elected by members of the Society at each annual general meeting of the Society in the manner prescribed in the Fourth Schedule for the election of a single office
- (2) All Councillors, other than the President, shall be elected by Members of the Society at each annual general meeting of the Society in the manner prescribed in the Fourth Schedule for the election of more than one office

(3) The allocation of National Council roles and responsibilities, other than President, shall be determined by the National Council following an election. The National Council shall appoint a Vice-President to take on the President's role when that person is unavailable for a significant period of time.

(4) If any Councillor should die, resign, or absent themselves from three consecutive National Council meetings without leave, then either the National Council or the Society may request a successor to be elected by a general meeting of the Society, such election to be in the manner prescribed in the Fourth Schedule for the election of a single office

20 Requirements for candidates for Society offices – Any member of the Society may be nominated as a candidate for election to any office in the Society provided that

(1) That member's membership of the Society, or of any Branch, is not currently under suspension, and

(2) That member meets any other requirements determined by the members of the Society

21 Determinations to be governed by Third Schedule – All matters to be determined by the Society, general meetings of the Society, or the National Council shall be determined democratically in the manner described in the Third Schedule

Part IV Members and Patrons

22 Ordinary membership of the Society – Any person, being a past or present New Zealand citizen or resident, may become a member of the Society on written application to the National Council, provided that

(1) By accepting membership of the Society, that person consents to, and agrees to respect

(a) The stated objects of the Society, and

(b) The Constitution of the Society, and

(c) Any resolution, policies, rules, or procedures of the Society

(2) Membership of the Society is granted subject to

(a) Approval by the National Council

(b) Payment by that member of any membership fees determined by the National Council

23 Honorary life membership of the Society – Any person may be granted honorary life membership of the Society by a determination of the Society, such honorary life membership carrying all consequent privileges and responsibilities of ordinary membership

24 Suspension and revocation of membership of the Society – Any member or honorary life member of the Society, except a patron, may have their membership of the Society, and all consequent privileges, suspended or revoked

(1) At the option of that person, on written request to the National Council, or

(2) By a determination of the Society, if that member is deemed to have

(a) Publicly betrayed the stated objects of the Society, or

(b) Breached or disregarded the provisions of this Constitution, or

(c) Breached, disregarded, or betrayed any resolutions, policies, rules, or procedures of the Society

(3) Such a determination as referred to in (2) above may only be made after the member or honorary life member has had a reasonable chance to consider and respond to the relevant concerns raised by members.

25 Patrons –

(1) The Society may appoint patrons of the Society

(2) Patrons shall be public advocates of the stated objectives of the Society, but shall be guided by the National Council and particularly the President when making public comments as a patron of the Society

(3) Any person appointed patron shall become an honorary life member of the Society, with all consequent privileges and responsibilities, except that their honorary life membership may not be revoked while they remain a patron

(4) There shall be no more than three patrons of the Society at any one time

26 Resignation and removal of patrons –

- (1) A patron of the Society may be removed from office by a two-thirds majority determination of the Society. Such a determination may only be made after the patron has had a reasonable chance to consider and respond to the relevant concerns raised by members.
- (2) Removal of a patron of the Society takes effect
 - (a) Sixty days after receipt of written notice of removal, or
 - (b) Upon receipt of written notice of removal, if the patron has been deemed to have publicly betrayed the stated objects, resolution, policies, rules, or procedures of the Society
- (3) If a patron resigns from office, such resignation takes effect
 - (a) Sixty days after receipt of written notice of resignation by the President, or
 - (b) Upon receipt of written notice of resignation by the President, if the patron resigns because he or she deems the Society to have publicly betrayed the objects, resolutions, policies, rules, or procedures of the Society

27 Resignation of officers – Any officer in the Society, except a patron, shall resign if called on to do so by a determination of the Society. Such a determination may only be made after the officer has had a reasonable chance to consider and respond to the relevant concerns raised by members.

Part V Meetings

28 Annual general meetings of the Society – The annual general meeting of the Society shall be held at some time during the first half of the financial year, for the purposes of

- (1) Receiving the annual reports and financial statements of
 - (a) The Society, and
 - (b) The National Executive, and
 - (c) Branches of the Society
- (2) Electing Councillors
- (3) Any other purposes necessary or convenient for the furtherance of the stated objects of the Society

29 Special general meetings of the Society – A special general meeting of the Society may be convened at any time for the purpose of making a determination, by request of

- (1) The National Council, or
- (2) Not less than one-fifth of the members of the Society

30 Notice of general meetings – The National Council shall make reasonable attempts to furnish adequate notice of general meetings to all members, having regard to the nature of the general meeting and the right of all members to attend

31 Quorum for general meetings of the Society – The quorum for general meetings of the Society shall be (recognising that any postal ballots will be counted towards the quorum)

- (1) Thirty members, or one-third of all members, whichever is the lesser number, and
- (2) A number of Councillors equal to the National Council quorum plus one

32 Meetings of the National Council – Meetings of the National Council may be convened at any time by any three Councillors provided that other Councillors shall be given a reasonable opportunity to attend, where practicable

33 Quorum for Meetings of the National Council – The quorum for meetings of the National Council shall be three Councillors, or one-half of all Councillors, whichever is the greater number

34 Determinations – All matters to be determined by the Society, or any organ of the Society, shall be determined by simple majority, unless the context otherwise requires, in the manner prescribed in the Third Schedule

First Schedule: The Republican Ensign

The Republican Insignia

The Republican Ensign

[When the Republican Ensign is represented in colour the upper field shall be green, the lower shall be black, and the Republican Insignia shall be white when represented in monochrome the upper and lower fields shall be the same colour and the Republican Insignia shall be the inverse colour of the upper and lower fields]

Second Schedule: Branches

- 1 Branches – The affairs of the Society may be managed by any Branches created by the National Council under section 16 of the Constitution, within any jurisdiction defined by the National Council under section 16 of the Constitution
- 2 Objects of Branches – The objects of Branches shall be
 - (1) The furtherance of the stated objects of the society within the jurisdiction of that Branch, and
 - (2) Any other objects determined by that Branch and approved by the National Council
- 3 Powers of Branches – Branches shall have the power to
 - (1) Carry out the stated objects of the Branch, and
 - (2) Manage all affairs of the Society within the jurisdiction of that Branch, and
 - (3) Any other additional powers within the jurisdiction of that Branch determined by that Branch and approved by the National Council
- 4 Ordinary membership of Branches – Any member of the Society may become a member of any Branch on written application to the Membership Officer of that Branch, provided that
 - (1) That person is encompassed by the jurisdiction of that Branch
 - (2) By accepting membership of that Branch, that person consents to, and agrees to respect the stated objects of that Branch
 - (3) Membership of that Branch, and consequent privileges, is granted subject to payment by that member of any membership fees determined by that Branch and approved by the National Council
- 5 Suspension and revocation of Branch membership – Any member of any Branch may have their membership of that Branch, and all consequent privileges, suspended or revoked
 - (1) At the option of that person, on written request to the Membership Officer of that Branch, or
 - (2) By determination of that Branch if that person is no longer encompassed by the jurisdiction of that Branch, or has been deemed to have
 - (a) Publicly betrayed the stated objects of either the Society or that Branch, or
 - (b) Breached or disregarded the provisions of this Constitution, or
 - (c) Breached, disregarded, or betrayed any resolutions, policies, rules or procedures of the Society
 - (3) Such a determination as referred to in (2) above may only be made after the member has had a reasonable chance to consider and respond to the relevant concerns raised by members.
- 6 Branch committees – The affairs of each Branch shall be managed by a Branch committee with the following powers
 - (1) To generally do any such things required for the efficient management of the affairs of that Branch to further the stated objects of that Branch, except for any such things specifically excluded by a determination of that Branch or by a determination of the National Council (such exclusions may cover any of the following clauses of Section 6)
 - (2) In order to manage the financial affairs of the Branch
 - (a) To purchase, take on lease, hire, or otherwise acquire any property, right, or privilege necessary or convenient for the furtherance of the stated objects of the Branch
 - (b) To sell, lease, exchange, develop, manage, grant licences in respect of, or otherwise deal with or dispose all, or any part of, the property, rights, or privileges of the Branch for such consideration as determined by the Branch committee
 - (c) To manage an account in the name of the Branch at any trading or savings bank in New Zealand or elsewhere, and to overdraw any such account with the approval of the National Council, and to make arrangements with any bank as to the operation of that account
 - (d) To approve accounts for payment, such accounts to be paid by cheque or electronic fund transfer whenever practicable

 - (4) To engage such persons whose services may be deemed necessary for the furtherance of the stated objects of the Society, on such terms and conditions as determined by the National Council

(5) Any other additional powers determined by that Branch and approved by the National Council

7 Branch committee officers – Branch committees shall consist of the following officers

(1) A President, responsible for assisting the National Council President in the discharge of his or her responsibilities with respect to that Branch's jurisdiction, also responsible

(a) For supporting, coordinating, and supervising all Branch activities, and

(b) To Branch members, the National Council, and the Society for the conduct of that Branch's affairs and for ensuring that Branch acts within its powers and jurisdiction at all times, and

(c) For the performance of the responsibilities of other Branch committee officers when they are unable or unavailable to do so

(2) Any such other officers with such responsibilities as determined by that Branch and approved by the National Council. Such responsibilities may include record-keeping, financial management and membership processing, but the focus of the Branch should be on moving forward republicanism through projects and activities, not administration.

8 Maximum number of Branch committee officers – The maximum number of Branch committee officers at any one time shall not exceed seven, but may be set at a lower number by the Branch members in any year at a General Meeting where elections are being held.

9 Election of Branch committee officers –

(1) Branch Presidents shall be elected by Branch members at each annual general meeting of that Branch in the manner prescribed in the Fourth Schedule for the election of a single office

(2) All Branch committee officers, other than Branch President, shall be elected by Branch members at each annual general meeting of that Branch in the manner prescribed in the Fourth Schedule for the election of more than one office

(3) The allocation of Branch committee roles and responsibilities, other than Branch President, shall be determined by the Branch committee following an election. The Branch committee shall appoint a Vice-President to take on the President's role when that person is unavailable for a significant period of time.

(4) If any Branch committee officer should die, resign, or absent themselves from three consecutive Branch committee meetings without leave, then either the Branch committee or the Branch may request a successor to be elected, such election to be in the manner prescribed in the Fourth Schedule for the election of a single office

10 Candidates for Branch offices – Any member of any Branch may be nominated for election to any office in that Branch provided that

(1) That member's membership of that Branch is not currently under suspension, and

(2) That member meets any other requirements determined by the members of that Branch and approved by the National Council

11 Annual general meetings of Branches – The annual general meeting of Branches shall be held during the two months before the annual general meeting of the Society, for the purpose of

(1) Receiving the annual report and financial statements of that Branch, and approving them for presentation to the annual general meeting of the Society, and

(2) To elect Branch committee officers, and

(3) Any other purposes necessary or convenient for the furtherance of the stated objects of that Branch

12 Special general meetings of Branches – A special general meeting of any Branch may be convened at any time for the purpose of making a determination, by request of

(1) The Branch committee, or

(2) Not less than one-fifth of the members of that Branch, or

(3) The National Council

13 Notice of general meetings – The Branch committee shall make reasonable attempts to furnish adequate notice of general meetings to all Branch members, having regard to the nature of the general meeting and the right of all Branch members to attend

- 14 Quorum for general meetings of Branches – The quorum for general meetings of Branches shall be (recognising that any postal ballots will be counted towards the quorum)
- (1) Thirty members, or more than one-third, of all members of that Branch, whichever is the lesser, and
 - (2) A number of members of that Branch’s committee equal to the Branch committee quorum
- 15 Quorum for general meetings of corporate and regional Branch committees – The quorum for meetings of Branch committees shall be three committee members

Third Schedule: Determination Procedures
